MONTRÉAL IS BRIMMING WITH CREATIVE TALENTS—MORE THAN 25,000 OF THEM—WHO DESERVE TO BE KNOWN AND ACKNOWLEDGED. THANKS TO THEM AND OUR MANY INSTITUTIONS DEDICATED TO ARCHITECTURE AND DESIGN, MONTRÉAL IS ACCLAIMED AS ONE OF 11 UNESCO CITIES OF DESIGN AROUND THE WORLD.
EVERY TWO YEARS, ON THE FIRST WEEKEND IN MAY, MONTRÉAL-BASED ARCHITECTS AND DESIGNERS THAT HAVE BEEN RECOGNIZED IN LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL DESIGN COMPETITIONS OPEN THEIR DOORS TO THE PUBLIC. THIS IS A CHANCE FOR EVERYONE TO SEE HOW THEIR IDEAS ARE BORN AND TO GET A BETTER SENSE OF HOW THEY FIND CONCRETE EXPRESSION IN OUR DAILY LIVES. DESIGN MONTRÉAL OPEN HOUSE IS A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY TO TALK TO THEM ABOUT THEIR WORK AND ACHIEVEMENTS, BUT ALSO TO SHARE YOUR OWN IDEAS AND PROJECTS.
MAKA KOTTO
Québec Minister of Culture and Communications

I’m proud to be part of the Design Montréal Open House event, which invites citizens from all of our communities to discover and appreciate the latest and greatest creative achievements in all design disciplines, all over the city. That creative spirit has earned Montréal its status as a UNESCO City of Design, the only one in North America. This event helps raise awareness of the talented designers who, among other things, help enrich Montrealers’ quality of life and raise the profile of Québec’s metropolis around the world.

I thank all of the creative practitioners and firms who are welcoming visitors to their premises and sharing the passion for design that drives them.

ÉLAIMNE AYOTTE
Ville de Montréal’s Executive Committee member responsible for Culture, Heritage and Design

If Montréal is a proud member of the Creative Cities Network, it is because we have made a firm commitment to making good design the cornerstone of our urban planning actions, all across our territory.

There is no doubt that Montréal’s designers play a role in the quality of our living environment. Design Montréal Open House is a chance for everyone to see how their ideas are born and to get a better sense of how they find concrete expression in our daily lives.

I invite all Montrealers to take advantage of the Open House and enjoy these two days of free activities. Come and explore inspiring spaces in the company of the immensely talented creative professionals who have earned our city the title UNESCO City of Design.

ANNE-MARIE CADIEUX
Actress

I am delighted to once again act as spokesperson for the Design Montréal Open House.

Great design is a reflection of our values and the ways in which our lives and needs evolve. Shapes, materials and spaces come to life thanks to the ingenuity and talent of designers. They create buildings and sites in our image, and objects that make our everyday lives more pleasant. This event provides a one-of-a-kind opportunity to come out and meet design professionals from multiple backgrounds, and discover the creativity and passion that are their inspiration.

CLAUD CORMIER
Landscape architect

Every designer seeks to create dialogue. Generate emotions. Sometimes, shake up the established order. But above all, spark a reaction to the sites or objects he or she produces. The creative act demands conviction and daring. Conviction, to rally the various stakeholders around a common vision. Daring, to produce a work that has meaning and provokes our gaze as part of the everyday.

I invite you to engage in this dialogue and react as you come in contact with the works and sites featured in this year’s Design Montréal Open House.

THE BUREAU DU DESIGN’S ACTIONS: COMPETITIONS PRODUCE RESULTS

The actions of the Ville de Montréal’s Bureau du design are structured around improving the design of the city and asserting Montréal’s status as a UNESCO City of Design, and have the following overall aims:

— Do more and better when it comes to designing the city;
— Raise awareness of the talents of Montréal-based designers; and — Develop the market for Montréal-based designers and architects, promoting processes that facilitate access to public commissions, such as design and architecture competitions.

Since 1990, 46 public projects in Montréal have been determined through design or architecture competitions. Half of those competitions have taken place since 2006, the year in which the Bureau du design was created and Montréal was appointed a UNESCO City of Design.

More info about design and architecture competitions is available at www.mtlunescodesigners.com/en.

“A DESIGN OR ARCHITECTURE COMPETITION IS A TRANSPARENT PROCEDURE LEADING TO THE AWARDING OF A PUBLIC-WORKS COMMISSION; IT CONSISTS OF A CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS ISSUED TO MULTIPLE TEAMS OF PROFESSIONALS WITH AN EYE TO OBTAINING A RANGE OF POTENTIAL SOLUTIONS TO A GIVEN PROBLEM. THIS ENABLES THE PRIME CONTRACTOR TO MAKE AN INFORMED CHOICE AFTER ANALYZING AND COMPARING THE VARIOUS DESIGN PROPOSALS.”

“THE PROCESS IS WIDELY USED INTERNATIONALLY AND IS INCREASINGLY BECOMING ENTRANCED IN MUNICIPAL COMMUNICATIONS STRATEGIES AS A WAY TO PROMOTE CITIES’ DYNAMIC CHARACTER AND THE QUALITY OF THEIR PLANNING, AND IN TURN ENHANCE THEIR ATTRACTIVENESS.”

BE AMONG THE FIRST TO VISIT!

In 2013, many new public buildings that are the fruits of architecture competitions have opened or will soon open their doors: the new Rio Tinto Alcan Planetarium (in Mercier–Hochelaga-Maisonneuve) was inaugurated in the spring, the Bibliothèque du Boisé (in Saint-Laurent) will open this summer, and the Bibliothèque Marc-Favreau (in Rosemont–La Petite-Patrie), which is still being built, will welcome its first users in the fall.

On the occasion of the Design Montréal Open House, the winning architectural firms that designed the Planetarium and the Bibliothèque du Boisé, in collaboration with the boroughs involved, will be offering guided tours of these new buildings, helping members of the public better understand and appreciate their distinctive architecture.

CARDIN RAMIREZ JULIEN + ÆDIFICA
Present the new Rio Tinto Alcan Planetarium. Winners chosen from among 61 architectural firms, the architects will present commented tours highlighting the original character of this new building emblematic of Montréal.

Sketch of the SAT expansion by Luc Laporte
Architect Luc Laporte (1942–2012) was born in Montréal and worked here all his life. Besides a rich architectural heritage, he left his mark on the city in many ways. We pay tribute to him this year, as well as to his clients and friends, several of whom agreed to collaborate with the event by opening their doors and presenting a retrospective of his work. Visitors will have the chance to meet the people behind Mr. Laporte’s creations and hear their stories.

Most Montrealers may not know who he was, yet they’ve spent time with him on many occasions: this inveterate dîneur-en-ville designed some of the city’s most beautiful restaurants, where, every evening, the spectacle of life à la montréalaise begins anew.

Always in, never out of fashion, the venues he created are generous and unifying. With one sweep of the eye, one recognizes his sense of space, the important role ascribed to natural light, the perfect balance between Euro tradition and North American modernism, and his meticulous choices of materials.

Mr. Laporte was also passionate about urban planning. Guided by his love of the city, he cast about the metropolis as a farmer might tend his fields, dreaming of sowing islands of civility here and there. Each time he drew a work out of the ground, it seemed as if it had grown there. Obvious and luminous. As if it had always been. Montrealers can still spend time with him, in each of the spaces that bear his signature, and where his talent shines on, and will for a long time to come.

ARTHUR QUENTIN
One unique boutique. Three unique spaces: table, kitchen, and fashion accessories. Luc Laporte designed the kitchen section in 1984, followed it up with the accessories section in 1988, and completed his work with the reimagining of the table arts space in 1990.

INSTITUT DE TOURISME ET D’HÔTELLERIE DU QUÉBEC (ITHQ)
The Restaurant de l’Institut opens its doors, unveiling the creative savoir-faire of Luc Laporte. Discover this space crafted especially to welcome foodies as well as the up-and-coming generation of chefs! The architect’s creative genius articulated a true transformation of the Restaurant de l’Institut: he turned it into an elegant spot imbued with a timeless classicism yet pulsing with modernity. What’s more, he brilliantly met the challenge of respecting the site’s educational vocation: students of the culinary arts practise their skills there, supervised by their teachers. Come and see how the restaurant’s new face does the ITHQ’s tradition justice.

LEMÉAC
Leméac is that most elegant of urban restos, a timeless eatery designed 10 years or so ago, where light, wood and marble really make the space. Émile Saine will tell the story of Leméac, recounting the birth and design of the project. Visitors will learn how the architect managed to convert the former bank space into a friendly, animated setting: a bistro-style restaurant with a long bar that plays a huge part in ensuring the urban soul of the place. Since 2001, Leméac has become a must meeting place.

DENTSUBOS INC.
See Luc Laporte’s deft repurposing of old warehouse space into superb office space. Midway through the 2000s, advertising agency Bos was forced to move. After months of searching, it settled on a former warehouse with great potential along the Lachine Canal. Taking advantage of the building’s industrial character, Luc Laporte succeeded in creating an environment that is as harmonious as it is conducive to work.

HOLDER
As the years go by, this big European style brasserie is becoming a Montreal institution. Be it lunch, brunch or dinner, the Holder is always buzzing with activity. This large and airy space looks and feels like it’s always been around. The high ceilings, the tall windows, the bar walls stocked with hundreds of bottles, all contribute to making this place remarkable and one of the busiest restaurants in town.

Branding and package design firm, specialized in fine foods and cosmetics products, among others. Chez Valois invites you to “get wrapped up” in an engaging discussion about the challenges of product packaging and identity and, at the same time, appreciate the containers it has created and even taste their contents! Macaroons, chips, caramel cakes, ice cream, sorbets, cakes, savoury and sugary pies, fine chocolates, still cider, sparkling cider, ice cider, foie gras, rillettes, patés, teas, spreads, and more! It’s about design as an excuse for eating and sharing!
Activity for children: Budding designers can create their own package designs: blank boxes, crayons, scissors, cardboard and glue will be made available to them to let their imaginations run wild.
